Northern Illinois University
Your Future. Our Focus.

Consent Form for Use of Student Writing Projects on the English Department Repository Website

English Department Repository: NIU FYC Textspace

Please read the information below carefully before deciding whether to give your permission.

Purpose

The English Department maintains a repository on the MediaWiki platform that includes sample student writing projects. These samples are used to help instructors design assignments and to show examples of student work for teaching purposes.

You are being asked for permission to allow your writing or multimodal project(s) from this course to be shared on the English Department repository as sample instructional materials that other instructors may view and use in their classes.

If you give consent:

- Your project may be posted on the English Department virtual repository.
- All materials posted on the repository will use a CC-BY license.
- Your name will not be required to appear on the website unless you explicitly request it. Your work can be shared anonymously.

Giving consent is completely voluntary and will not affect your grade, your standing in the course, or your relationship with the instructor or the department.

You may change your mind at any time. If you decide later that you want your work removed from the department repository, you may request removal by emailing niu.fyc.repository@gmail.com. Your work will be taken down as soon as the request is processed.

Northern Illinois University
Your Future. Our Focus.

Questions or Concerns

If you have any questions about this consent form, the website, or how your work will be used, you may contact niu.fyc.repository@gmail.com:

Consent Statement

I give permission for my writing or project(s) to be used on the English Department virtual repository for instructional purposes.

Student Name (printed): _____

Student Signature: _____ Date: _____